Thursday 21st January 2021
LI - write a balanced argument about staying at home during pandemic

Please stick to font size 14.

Dear Mr Pear,

Recently we have been asked by the Government to stay at home due to the Coronavirs spreading all over the world. This virus is no joke. People have been dying and getting sick because of it. In this balanced argument I will be discussing why we should stay at home and why we should not stay at home during this period.

To begin with, staying at home would prevent the virus from spreading and lower the cases(especially when we are in Tier 5). To add on, less people are going to public areas which is good so that people can social distance better. Therefore, the virus wouldn't spread as wild as before.

On the other hand, Employers are cutting down thousands of jobs as Covid-19 continues to hit the economy. Also, children's mental health is getting worse due to schools closing and us staying at home because of lockdown.As a result, lockdown could be dangerous due to adults losing their jobs and children's mental health getting inferior.

Some people might think that it is not good to stay at home but on the other side We need to stay at home to also protect the NHS.We need to protect the NHS because they are our saviors.They saved lots of lives for the past year and figured out a vaccine that could help save lives. Moreover, we need to help the NHS feel better about how hard they have been working, saving lives and more. That being said we need to stay at home because we need to save lives and protect the community.

Nevertheless, staying at home could cause blue light. Most children are on their electronics 24/7 which can make their visions poor. Also children need to have fun and enjoy themselves but the Government said we can't go outside which can make them bored and moody. Because of this, children can lose their visions and can also get perforated.

Having considered both sides of the argument, I personally think that we should stay at home due to the fact that not only should we protect ourselves, we also need to protect the NHS.What is your opinion Mr pear?

Your sincerely,
Marwa Bouslimani.